A large crowd gathered in Old Town Bay St. Louis on Saturday to help the Hancock County Community Development Foundation unveil its latest Heritage Star, dedicated to late chef and restaurateur Tony Trapani.

The star was placed directly in front of Trapani's Eatery, which he and long-time partner Jolynne have owned since 1994.

"We are honored to have Tony's memory be a part of Bay St. Louis forever with this star," Jolynne Trapani said. "We just want to thank the city and the foundation for honoring him this way. He loved Bay St. Louis. He is Bay St. Louis."

The couple's children, Grace and Joseph, also spoke during the ceremony Saturday.

"Dad would love this," Grace said. "Especially because we got two parties out of it," referring to the Heritage Star announcement party at Trapani's Eatery this past April.

“The Heritage Memorial Star will serve as a fitting tribute to his legacy and his contributions to the community,” the community development foundation said in a press release.

“Tony was a beloved member of our community, and his contributions to the Bay will never be forgotten,” Wendy McDonald, president of the Hancock County Community Development Foundation, said.

“This memorial will serve as a lasting tribute to his legacy and his dedication to making the Bay a better place.”

Tish Williams, executive director of the Hancock Chamber and the Hancock County Community Development Foundation, said Trapani’s star joins several others placed on Beach Boulevard, including those for Katharine Ohman, who greatly contributed to the rebuilding and beautification of Bay St. Louis after Hurricane Katrina; former Sea Coast Echo Publisher Ellis C. Cuevas; businessman and one of the original planners of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Harbor, Jody Compretta; and former long-time Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre.

In May, the foundation also placed a star at 126 Main Street to honor late gallery owner and arts-scene patriarch Jerry Dixon.

Established by Chet LeBlanc, the Bay St. Louis Heritage Star program is intended to recognize honorees’ contributions to the community.

Bay St. Louis man brings home top prizes from the Fifty-Caliber World Championships

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Craig Martin of Bay St. Louis recently took home top honors from the Fifty Caliber World Championships, held at the Whittington Center near Raton, New Mexico.

The event was held from June 30 to July 2 and was sponsored by the Fifty Caliber Shooting Association.

Martin said that he has attended the event about six times, but this was the first year he won the top honors.

He works for Nammo MAC LLC, which makes ammunition.

Martin said he doesn’t shoot with Nammo MAC LLC’s ammunition for the competition, but rather Cutting Edge Bullets, which provided his ammunition.

He also used a custom gun made by gunsmiths, he added.

Martin said about 60 people from the U.S., England, Scotland, and Australia participated in this year’s championship.

According to a press release from “Very High Power Magazine,” Martin placed first in the “light gun (by gun weight) competition with a score of 296 and 12 shots in the X ring. Each round of shooting consists of a sight-in period, followed by five shots for scoring. This is done three times. A perfect score is 300.”

Dianne and Craig Martin with his World Championship award and belt buckle. The buckle was donated by Arizona Ammunition.

Martin, who said he also won the Iron Man competition, once again took home that first place honor.

According to the release, he had a score of “1,163 and 42 in the X ring. Iron Man requires the shooter to participate in unlimited, light, heavy, and hunter classes. Each class has a different gun requirement.”

In order to win the entire match, Martin said, the participant must be best in two classes.

There are two categories for smallest groups at the championship, the release states, “Screamers with five shots in a group less than seven inches and Yellers with groups seven to 12 inches.”

Martin won first place — using his heavy gun — in Screamers with “five in the X ring and a 3.375 inch group,” the release states.

Martin placed third in the smallest group at 9,813 inches, the release states.

Martin also took home first place in the two-gun competition — light and heavy guns by weight —, the release states, with a “589 and 26 in the X ring. His group average of 9,630.”

He placed second in the hunter competition with a score of 283 and six in the X ring a group size of 11.156, the release states.

Martin placed fourth in the unlimited category, which is the heaviest guns, with a score of 291 and 10 in the X ring, the release states, and a group size of 11.479.

Martin said he brought home 10 plaques, three medals, a bronze statue, and a championship belt buckle donated by Arizona Ammunition.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church on Saturday celebrated its 97th annual Blues & BBQ Festival with a record crowd at the historic Bay St. Louis Train Depot grounds.

“I want to thank everybody that came out and participated with us,” event Chairman Craig Saucier said. “it was a big success.”

Saucier said the Depot was definitely the best location for the annual fest.

“We did it up here years before, but during the pandemic last year, we decided to go back behind the church. That’s just too secluded. At the Depot, the community gets to see what we’re up to.”

“It was a good day,” Maurice Singleton, who helped organize the event, said. “That location proved to be very beneficial to us. There were so many people there for the entire fair. It went really well.”

The St. Rose Gospel Choir kicked off the performances on Saturday, followed by T. Holloway; Jesse Loya; line dancing with Dennis Farve; The David Mayley Band; John Bezou; New Directions; and Blues great Ray Neal, who closed out the show.

The event also included great barbecue and more than 30 crafts and food vendors.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, located at 301 S. Nicaise in Bay St. Louis, has served the community since the early 1920s. The church began its annual festival near the very beginning, and shifted to the “Blues and BBQ” format a few years ago, to great success.

“We’re going to try to do two days next year because one day is just not enough,” Saucier said. “We’re going to shoot for Friday, June 21 and Saturday, June 22 of 2024. We’ll see you next year.”

Local student participates in GenSea Blue Internship

SEA COAST ECHO

To inspire the next generation of leaders in marine and coastal sciences, the GenSea Blue Economy Pathways Internship program at The University of Southern Mississippi (USM) is offering a cohort of 17 high school students the opportunity to intern at various USM research sites during the summer, with positions ranging from four to eight weeks.

The GenSea Blue Economy Pathways Internship program, facilitated in partnership with the Center for STEM Education and working with the School of Ocean Science and Engineering (SOSE), brings together USM faculty and staff who host students as blue economy mentors. Under their guidance, students are introduced to the world of STEM along Mississippi’s coastline through hands-on training and invaluable experiences in the blue economy.

“Opportunity doesn’t happen by accident. This program affords students transformational lab and field experience while building their professional networks,” said Chelsey Reid, Assistant Program Manager of Outreach of the GenSea program. “By working with high school students, we can meaningfully reach students early enough in their academic career to impact their workforce readiness before graduation. My favorite observed program byproduct can be summed up in one word: hope.”

The mentees for this year’s cohort include experts—in the SOSE, the Thad Cochran Marine Aquaculture Center (TCMAC), and the GenSea program communications team—who all bring a wealth of knowledge and experience to the program. The faculty members from SOSE are Dr. Joe Griffitt, an expert in ecotoxicology; Dr. Michael Andres, specializing in fisheries ecology; Dr. Chelsea Pederson, known for her work in sedimentology; Calvin Martin, a hydrography expert; Dr. Gero Nootz, expert in ocean engineering and technology; Megan Gima, serving as the TCMAC Oyster Hatchery Manager; and Angelos Apeitos, as the TCMAC Hatchery Manager. Completing the team of mentees, the GenSea program communications team includes Tara Skelton, the Program Manager and Chelsey Reid, the Assistant Program Manager of Outreach.

Interns have worked at teaching and research sites, including the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach, the Stennis Space Center facility, the Marine Research Center in Gulfport, and the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs. Each location offers a unique learning environment that reflects the richness and diversity of the coastal region.

“Our School is focused on participating in many impactful and strategic initiatives to promote economic, scientific, and technological innovation in Mississippi’s coastal zone,” said Dr. Robert Leaf, Interim Associate Director of the SOSE. “A primary focus of SOSE has been our efforts in oceanography, coastal and marine ecology, aquaculture and fisheries, ocean engineering and technology, and hydrographic science and understanding of how our work in these fields can benefit the citizens of our state.”

The interns are participating in a wide variety of job types to ensure a diverse range of experiences that align with each of their interests and aspirations. From marine biology to coastal engineering, interns will gain practical knowledge and skills that will serve as a solid foundation for their future career pathways.

Dr. Leaf added, “We are particularly excited about our engagement with Mississippi’s students. Our faculty cultivate the interests of Mississippi’s students while fostering a deeper understanding of the marine and coastal ecosystem and opening doors to exciting career paths in the blue economy.”

This year’s interns include:

London Favre from Bay High School (Mentor: Calvin Martin)

THE CHAMP

Once again, my Daddy has proven to be — as one Facebook friend described him — a “heavy weight champion.”

For a while now, per his request, we kept the news off the record.

About a month ago, Daddy was diagnosed with Squamous cell carcinoma. The cancer had formed inside his mouth on the right side. His doctors acted swiftly and he was referred to the Oral Oncology Clinic at the LSU School of Dentistry where he met the amazing Dr. Peter Park and Dr. Hatoum, who performed the necessary biopsy and pre-op tests. While he was waiting for surgery, the cancer was growing quite rapidly and he was in a lot of pain.

On June 27 (Mom and Dad’s 42nd wedding anniversary), he went in for his surgery, which included removing part of his jaw bone, his bottom row of teeth, and a portion of his chin. Doctors used a piece of bone from his leg to replace the bone removed and were going to use the skin from the leg, but after 13 hours of surgery, which included removal of the cancer, they realized the skin from the leg wasn’t going to take.

STAFF COLUMN
by Cassandra Favre

After 13 hours of waiting, my mom and I were getting antsy. It was supposed to be an eight-hour surgery. However, we were still getting updates from the OR nurses stating that he was stable and whatnot. When the doctors came in to tell us the news, they looked a little defeated, but not for long. They vowed to try again the next day and complete the skin flap on his face. The great news was that they removed all the cancer.

When we finally got to see him, it was a shock to the system. What we saw was the skin shrinking and the blood vessel not working. We returned home with a sense of apprehension, fear, and a bit of heartbreak. On the other hand, we also had hope and faith in the doctors that they would do their very best with this complication.

On Wednesday, June 28, they took him back into surgery and grafted skin from his chest area for the skin flap on his face. That worked well! The doctors were all smiles when they came to let us know! And we let out the biggest sighs of relief. When we got to see him that night, it was a different story.

Since then, he has had a rocky go of it. Coming off the anesthesia left him a little disoriented for a few days. His sugars, overwork on his heart, and BP were giving the doctors some trouble. He also developed slight pneumonia in his lungs.

Hancock History: SOLDINIE’S GROCERY (1940-1988)

In 1940, Turner Soldinie and his wife, Cora, started a grocery store in Waveland on Sears Ave and North Street. Turner was a builder of houses and he constructed their two residences on Fink Street as well as the building that contained “Soldinie’s Grocery.” Today, that building contains the popular sports bar and restaurant S & B’s Bar and Grill. Back in the day, Soldinie’s Grocery was a very popular place for the locals to hang out sitting around drinking beer and discussing the local fishing news and local politics. It was very common for politicians seeking votes to visit the store and buy a “round of beer” for the house. The store had groceries, a meat market butcher shop, and a popular snowball stand in the front facing the street. In the “back room” there were several nickel slot machines and a poker table. In that era, Waveland was a popular beach destination resort town with many New Orleanian’s summer houses.

Turner Soldinie (1900-1988) never drove a car. In fact, he courted the love of his life, Cora Ladner (1907-1979), on horseback. She did not drive either. They walked back and forth from their home one block away on Fink Street to the store seven days a week for forty years. “Ms Cora” raised chickens at their house on Fink Street in Waveland. This little five foot tall “Ms Cora” was such a very good and well-respected business woman who saved money from selling her eggs and her husband’s carpenter work that she was able to start this grocery store business.

The grocery store survived Hurricane Camille although it was flooded with four feet of water and did reopen at the same location. Half of the businesses on Coleman Avenue relocated to Highway 90. Those that remained included Rose’s Café, Caldwell’s Grocery, Charles and Ramona’s Bar, Tommy Kidd’s Restaurant, Merchants Bank, the Post Office, City Hall, and Pat Toomey’s Gas Station.

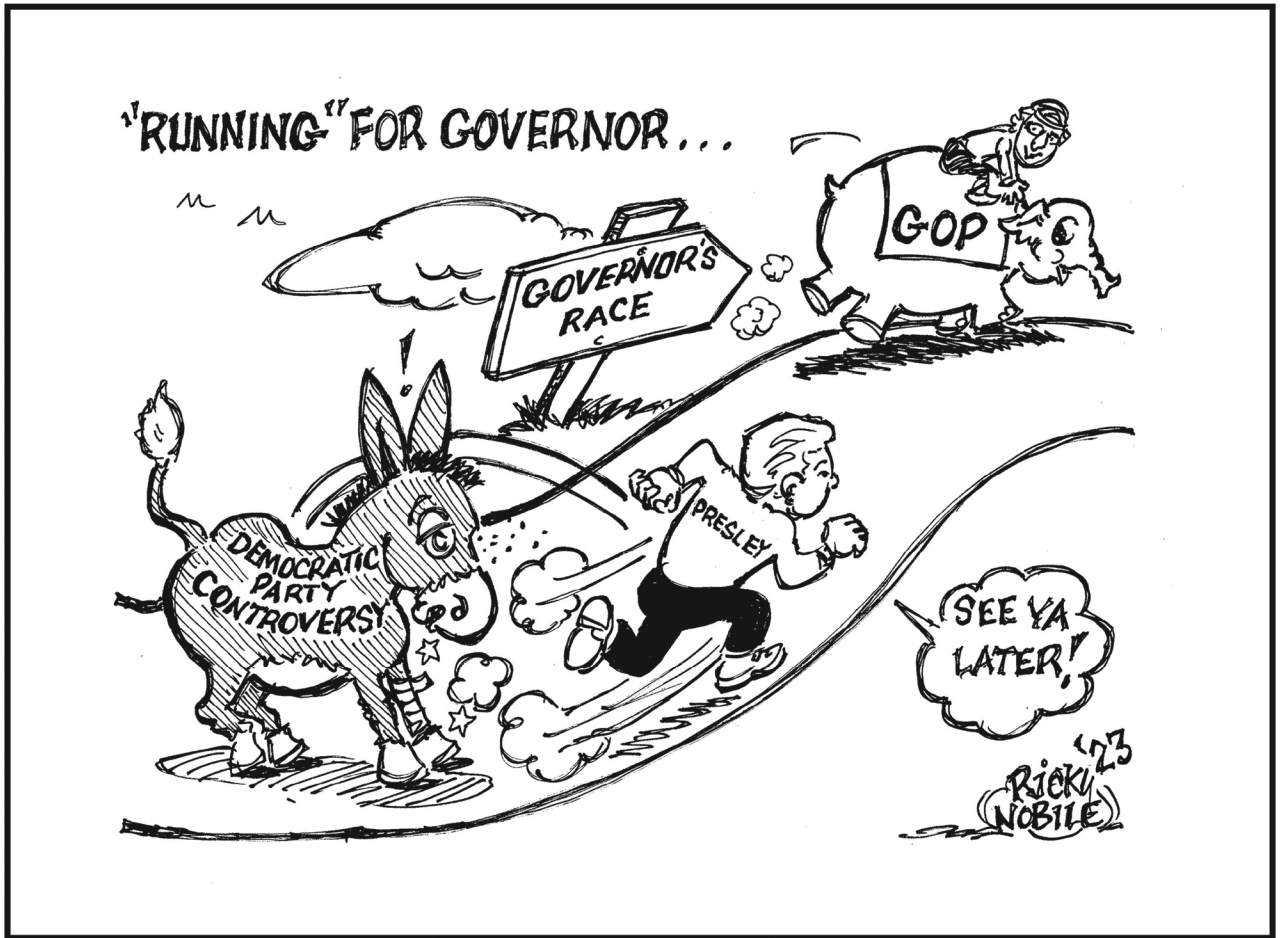

Rickie “Rick” Paul Soldinie (b.1954) is a grandson of Turner and Cora and an invaluable source of local history for this column. Rick graduated from St. Stanislaus in 1973 and served in the US Air Force from 1975-1979 stationed at

Conservation Corner: THE NORTH AMERICAN MODEL OF WILDLIFE CONSERVATION

The crusade to manage and conserve fish and wildlife began in the mid-1800s when hunters and anglers realized the need to set limits to protect disappearing species. This cause led to the one-of-a-kind, time-tested conservation program known as the North American Model of Wildlife Conservation in which hunters and anglers were among the first to call for the conservation of fish and wildlife. Even today, hunters and anglers are some of the foremost leaders in conservation efforts.

There are two basic principles relative to this model: 1) that our fish and wildlife belong to all North American (NA) citizens, and 2) that these resources are to be managed so that populations will be sustained indefinitely. These principles are explained through a set of guidelines known as the “Seven Sisters for Conservation.”

Sister #1: Public Trust. This states that in NA, natural resources on public lands are managed by government agencies to ensure that we always have fish and wildlife as well as wild habitats and places to enjoy.

Sister #2: Prohibition on Commerce of Dead Wildlife. In the late 1800s, the selling of meat, hides, feathers, and other parts of wild animals was a growing business. This led to excessive hunting which severely depleted some species and drove others to near extinction. However, the hides, antlers, teeth, fur, and horns of some game animals may still be sold.

Sister #3: The Democratic Rule of Law. This means that you and every other citizen of the US and Canada have the right to help create conservation and management laws. Citizens are given the opportunity to attend forums and vote on ballot measures that impact fish and wildlife.

Sister #4: Hunting and Fishing Opportunities for All. This upholds that regardless of your race, creed, social status, religion, or gender, you have the right to legally hunt and fish on most public lands in NA.

Sister #5: Non-Frivolous Use. This simply means that there are laws in place that restrict us from casually killing fish and wildlife. In NA, we can legally kill certain wild animals for food and fur, self-defense, and property protection, but we cannot kill solely for feathers, horns, or antlers or even to use only a small portion of the meat.

Sister #6: Wildlife and Fish as International Resources. This recognizes that fish and wildlife can migrate freely across boundaries between states, provinces, and countries and that we are all responsible for their protection. The Migratory Bird Treaty Act of 1918 is an example of this concept.

Sister #7: Scientific Management. This considers the supportive aspect of scientific management. This holds to the belief that applying scientific research is essential to managing and sustaining North American wildlife and habitats.

Regardless of how you feel about hunting or fishing, it is the glue that holds together this unique, world-renowned North American Model of Wildlife Conservation.

But, despite the hurdles, Daddy keeps improving every day. The skin flap on his face is healing nicely, doctors say.
He has a feeding tube in his nose and a trachea in his neck area so that he can breathe, since he can't do so through his mouth. Right now, he can't talk, but as of our visit on Saturday, he is trying to talk and we can understand some of what he is saying. He is communicating via handwritten notes right now.
As of Monday, he is scheduled for what will hopefully be his last procedure for a while. On Wednesday, he is scheduled for another skin graft to close the hole in his leg and also insert a feeding tube into his stomach and remove the one from his nose.
The physical therapy team has been working with him to get him up and moving, which will help with his healing. According to ICU nurses, they have been impressed with his strength.

His spirits have been improving with each passing day. He is still the same Daddy and he has been joking around with us, as well.
Throughout his life, Daddy has had numerous procedures for his heart, his sinuses, knee, and the kidney transplant. In my opinion, this has been one of the most intensive ones I've watched him go through. But, once again, he proves how much of a fighter he is.
I only wish to have the strength he does.
In addition to the wonderful Dr. Park — who calls my mom every other day with updates — and Dr. Hatoum, he has a fantastic team of ICU nurses at Touro Hospital in New Orleans.
In the beginning, I would call about four times a day. His nurses were always so patient with me and gave detailed updates. Being an hour away does make it hard when you just want to know what's going on all the time.
Daddy's recovery will be a slow one and we aren't sure of what the future will look like, but I mean, who is certain of that? He may have to have some light radiation or chemotherapy, but we don't have those answers just yet.

I'm so proud to call this man my Daddy, always have been. Of course, I'm a little angry too, because curveballs keep being thrown his way and it just doesn't seem fair. But as the nephew said, "Life isn't fair, get used to it!"
But, it's also how we deal with these curveballs that make the difference. Daddy has a will to fight and live. I know my nephew plays a big part in his drive. One of his first handwritten notes instructed us to call the nephew.
While some things are going to change, I know he will still be the same funny, sarcastic, and loving Daddy, husband, Paw Paw, and hero we all know and love.

Rick and his wife, Jody Braquet (b. 1957), married in 1986. Rick met Jody in 1969 at a local beachfront fair when she was eleven and he was fourteen. They maintained a friendship over the years. Jody was from New Orleans, but the family came to the coast every summer, as they had a summer home in Bay St. Louis. Jody was an office manager after she went to college. The couple has lived in their house on Shipp Street since their marriage and have reared three children: Richard, Raymond, and Rocky.
Rick's father, Paul Soldinie (1926-1956), died tragically in an auto accident in 1956 on Waveland Avenue. Three other Waveland family young men were also in the automobile and survived: Bill Corr, Frank Noto, and Paul's brother, Roland Soldinie. Rick was only two years old and his brother Randy was an infant only six weeks old at the time of the accident. His mother, Regina Smith Soldinie (1931-1988), never remarried. Paul was buried in the Waveland Cemetery. Rick's aforementioned grandparents, Turner and Cora, were also buried in the Waveland Cemetery along with their sons: William T. "Billy" Soldinie Junior and Roland "Bubby" Soldinie.. Billy was a World War II Marine Corp veteran who was wounded. Roland was a Mississippi State boxing champion when he was a teenager.

Rick's paternal grandparents were William Soldinie and Julian Favre. William died while plowing a field on his farm in Hancock County. His ox was pulling a plow and during the encounter, the angry ox turned on William and trampled him to death. The Soldinie family originally emigrated from Italy.
Rick's mother, Regina, was the child of Ana Mae Ladner and Edward Smith Ladner. Ana Mae was reared in Bayou La-Croix. The family had a large farm on the Bayou LaCroix Road. They raised cattle, sheep, horses, and hogs. A large vegetable garden and forty acres of watermelon and a huge chicken business flourished. One of her brothers, Ivy Ladner, had a son named Kenny Ray Ladner who established the Ladner Feed Store in Bayou LaCroix which relocated to Lakeshore in the 1960's. Ana Mae's brother Ivy had a daughter, Jude Ladner, who married "Gator" Lee of Lakeshore.

Rick and Jody were one of the first families to locate in the neighborhood of west Waveland Avenue. Their home and property is very close to "Dobson's Pond" in the Jackson Marsh. Dobson's Pond was named after Dr. Dobson. In 1986, this neighborhood area land was mainly undeveloped forest. Other houses were built in the 1990's. The neighborhood is very secluded and peaceful with no crime. After Katrina, houses and camps were not built south of the railroad tracks because of the punitive flood insurance premiums,

Port Bienville Receives $4.5M Grant for New Water Well & Tank Project

SEA COAST ECHO

Port Bienville and Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission (HCPHC) will be the beneficiary of a grant awarded by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality through the Mississippi Municipality and County Water Infrastructure (MCWI) Grant program.

The funds are to be allocated to the Hancock County Water & Sewer District (HCWSD) for the Port Bienville Well & Tank project estimated to cost approximately $4.5 million dollars.

Hancock County Port & Harbor Executive Director/CEO Blaine LaFontaine remarks on the importance of the new infrastructure: “The water deficiency has hindered existing industry expansions, fire ratings, redundancy, and opportunities for new industry at Port Bienville.

HCPHC is grateful for the continued partnership and support from Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Hancock County Water & Sewer District. We believe this investment will allow Hancock County to have the capacity to be competitive with new opportunities and support our existing industry demands.”

The grant award from MCWI to HCWSD shall not exceed $2,225,110 and is supported with a local match of $2,225,110 from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA).

Theresa Ryan of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for District 1 commends the new project stating: “Port Bienville serves as an economic engine for Hancock County with approximately 750 jobs and 16 companies. It is important for our Board of Supervisors to use our American Rescue Plan Act funds to address these deficiencies that support and grow our industrial base for existing and future jobs.”

Port Bienville’s existing well and tank is over three decades old and performs at a rate of 750 gallons per minute with a tank capacity of 250,000 gallons to serve all tenants in Port Bienville.

The new project site on Webre Road, close to Calgon Carbon, will add redundancy to the system and provide a new well with a proposed rate of 1500gallons per minute, and new tank capacity of 500,000 gallons, more than doubling the existing capacity and water services for Port Bienville.

The project is currently under design from Chiniche Engineering and Surveying, with a projected bid by October 2023, and projected completion by December 2024.

“Hancock County Water & Sewer District is committed to the future growth and demands of our industrial customers at Port Bienville. The well and tank project is just the first phase of our continued efforts to advance Port Bienville infrastructure working with our partners and state legislators” stated Farron Hoda, Chairman of the Hancock County Water & Sewer District.

MAC Awards $1.75M in Grants for Arts Projects and Programs in Mississippi

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Arts Commission (MAC) is investing over $1.75 million through grants in more than 337 organizations, schools, and individual artists across the state for the fiscal year 2024. The agency received an increase in funding, which allowed the agency to fund more grants for the new fiscal year.

“With the additional funds provided to MAC this fiscal year, we are able to fund 37 more grants that are providing an economic impact for Mississippi communities, the arts, and education throughout the state,” said David Lewis, executive director for the Mississippi Arts Commission. “We are grateful for the support from the Mississippi Legislature and elected officials who helped prioritize the arts in Mississippi.”

MAC’s annual grant funds come from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Mississippi State Legislature. Awards were made in 104 Mississippi House of Representatives districts and 60 state Senate districts.

The awards include:

General Operating Support for 66 arts organizations.

Project Support for 75 arts and community-based organizations across Mississippi to foster the continuation of the state’s folk and traditional art forms, support performances and arts programming, and strengthen education in and through the arts.

Project Support for 20 individual artists to support innovation, propel artists’ careers, and encourage collaboration between artists and communities.

Artist Fellowship awards to 39 individual artists across artistic disciplines who demonstrate the ability to create exemplary work in their chosen field.

Mini-Grants to 69 individual artists to support their professional development and 15 arts and community-based organizations to support arts programming and institutional strategic development.

In addition to making direct grants, MAC accepted 24 schools into its Mississippi Whole Schools Initiative , which provides PreK-12 educators with intensive professional development for integrating the arts across the curriculum.

MAC also approved 18 artists and performing groups for inclusion in its Artist Roster and Teaching Artist Roster, which features many of the best artists and arts educators in the state. The Artist Roster is updated annually in the fall on MAC’s website.

“MAC is dedicated to fostering creativity that enhances the quality of life and supports economic opportunities in Mississippi communities through statewide investment in the arts,” said Marie Sanderson, board chair for MAC. “This year’s increase in funding by the Mississippi Legislature will allow MAC to continue to promote the rich artistic culture of our state and the role it plays from education to the economy.”

Kiln 18-year-old charged with statutory rape of two girls

ECHO STAFF

An 18-year-old Kiln resident was arrested in Harrison County and charged with the statutory rape of two 12-year-old girls, Harrison County Sheriff Troy Peterson said in a press release Thursday.

Peterson said Drew Emile Gallardo was being held at the Harrison County Jail in lieu of $850,000 bond, set by Harrison County Justice Court Judge Damon Reese.

The girls’ parents approached sheriff’s investigators with the allegations, Peterson said.

Gallardo had been living at one of the girl’s homes when the incidents occurred, according to the release.

The case is still under investigation.

“Frida Be You & Me” Frida Kahlo look-alike contest.

Frida Kahlo de Rivera was a famed surrealist painter from Mexico who became a feminist icon nearly 40 years after her death.

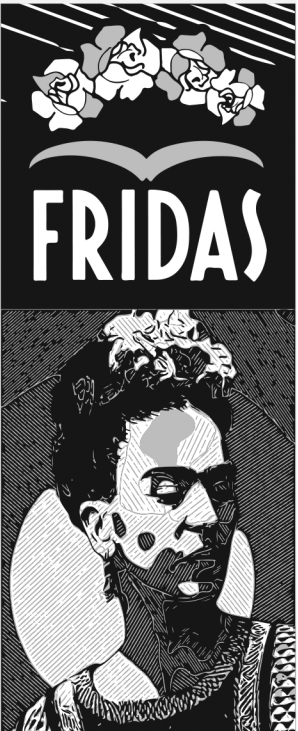

Frida Fest is the brainchild of former Smith & Lens owners Ann Madden and Sandy Maggio, who founded the celebration in 2014.

The Mockingbird Cafe picked up the reins of the contest a couple of years ago. This year, prizes were awarded for best adult, best child and “crowd favorite.”

Contestants paid $10 each to enter, and proceeds from the look-alike contest will be donated to Woodside Wildlife Rescue.

Other Old Town merchants hosted various Frida-themed events during the day’s Second Saturday Art Walk, and a “Frida 5Kahlo Run” hosted by Bay St. Louis Running Company kicked off the day’s events at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

Tribute To Cormac McCarthy

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. Gerald Richardson, D. MIN.

Cormac McCarthy was one of the most important writers in American literature. He passed from this life a few weeks ago. Although he was not known for his religious beliefs, he was one of the most spiritually minded novelists that one could read. His profound writing exposed his readers to some of the most deep and insightful thoughts that have ever been expressed by a writer in this country.

Some of his best known, and most popular, works included All The Pretty Horses, and No Country For Old Men. He wrote several lesser known books, among them, The Passenger, The Road and Cities of the Plain, and several others.

His work was often complex and dark, but he addressed the human condition with a depth and profound insight which always made the reader reflect deeply in a way which is rare and engaging. He wrote of those who seek love and understanding, and he always set his work against the dual realities of good and evil, the innocent and the depraved. At times his writing resembled the apocalyptic language of the biblical book of Revelation, and it was always stunning in its wisdom. One writer described his writing as “breathtaking” in its ability to address moral struggle, science, the legacy of sin, and the madness that is human consciousness. It would be difficult to imagine an author who speaks on the written page with more pathos, passion, and moral courage than Cormac McCarthy.

One of his most insightful and thought provoking quotes is from his work entitled, The Passenger.

In addressing quantum mechanics he says that location cannot be expressed without reference to some other location. He further states that information is perceived in much the same way. In other words, it is not possible to process information independent of the apparatus necessary to its perception. These are astounding insights which indicate the depth of his writing.

As I reflect on his work, I find myself with a deep gratitude for his life, and for the influence that his work has had on my own. He was sometimes hard to read, but he always left the reader with a powerful sense of the mystery, the majesty, and yes, the reality of pain, in the human experience.

It is crucial for those who wish to explore the deepest parts of life to expose themselves to such writers as Cormac McCarthy. They take us to places in the soul which we do not often visit. They invite us to consider the dark realities of life, to measure ourselves against standards of integrity and morality, and to ask the deep questions which linger in the human spirit. Cormac McCarthy gave something to the world which is greatly needed, but is often lacking. He provided his readers with a depth of reflection which can be painful, but which, in the end, enriches the human journey.

Thank you Cormac. May you rest in peace, and may your life and work stand as a legacy for those who follow.

“Crews are making progress and remain on schedule for the bridge repairs underway at the East Pearl River Bridge on I-10 W near the Louisiana state line,” according to an MDOT press release issued Tuesday. “Key Construction, LLC of Madison was awarded the contract for this project. Over the weekend, crews removed concrete bridge railing and will replace it with new concrete railing this week. They will soon begin hydro-demolition of the bridge deck in the right lane of I-10.
“Once complete, crews will replace the concrete deck in the right lane and fix a joint in the rail curve. The right lane of I-10 over the East Pearl River bridge will remain closed 24/7 until Failure to heed this advice may result in extensive & expensive bodily injury, as well as social em”bear”assment.”

MEET GINA!
This beautiful gal is a 2 year old Blue-tick Coonhound, and is the perfect combination of affable hound dog and loving companion. She will very likely sneak into your lap for cuddles and smooches when you're not looking! While she may have been a "working girl" in her past life, she has quickly acclimated to a life of leisure. She spends her days basking in the sun, playing with our volunteers, and hanging with her doggie and kitty pals. Gina never meets a stranger, and is a typical, sweet-natured hound dog. She is gorgeous, too, and exemplifies all of the wonderful qualities for which this breed is known and loved. And, if you watch Pit Bulls & Parolees, you'll know that Tia Torres has a great fondness for Blue-ticks. Gina is a whole lot better behaved than Tia's crew, though. No bad behavior here! Gina has it all. She is beautiful, loving, smart, and fun. And who doesn't love a Hound? Come share your lap with Gina during our visiting hours on Mon, Wed-Fri 10am-3:30pm and Tues 1:30pm-3:30pm, or please call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment. Marion Pohl of BSL Graduates in the Inaugural Class of MC’s Honors College

SEA COAST ECHO

Marion Pohl of Bay Saint Louis was recognized at the recent commencement ceremonies for being a member of the first class of Honors College students at Mississippi College.

During his spring 2019 inauguration, Mississippi College President Blake Thompson prioritized establishing an Honors College on the Clinton campus to advance the University’s vision of being recognized for academic excellence and a commitment to the cause of Christ.

Members of that first class of Honors College students participated in MC’s Spring 2023 Commencement on May 4. Dr. Erin Norcross, Honors College director, said each newly minted graduate is fulfilling the president’s promise by realizing their vast potential and blazing an impressive trail for subsequent classes to follow.

MC Honors College is an enriched educational program dedicated to maximizing academic and spiritual success in an environment that challenges students beyond the conventional classroom. Students are not required to pursue a specific major. Instead, students are encouraged to pursue their own interests, with the Honors College supplementing and enhancing their studies.

In addition to their standard coursework, Honors College students engage in multidisciplinary courses designed to encourage them to think deeply about enduring themes and important questions that cross disciplines.

“The Steering Committee was passionate about having an Honors College that was accessible to every undergraduate on campus, regardless of what they wanted their major to be,” Norcross said. “We believe in interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary education: the students learn from each other and from the different disciplines represented.”

Incoming freshmen with a score of 29 or higher on the ACT, 1330 or higher on the SAT, or 89 on the CLT are invited to apply for the Honors College. Students must also submit essays and recommendation letters for consideration.

The initial class consists of student leaders from various organizations on campus, from men’s service clubs to women’s social tribes, from MC Singers to Lyric Stage at MC, and from athletics to student government.

“They were freshmen when the COVID-19 pandemic started, so they had to transition from the typical student experience to going home for Spring Break and not coming back,” Norcross said. “They had to deal with all of the changes brought on by the pandemic while maintaining incredibly high GPAs and doing all the hard academic work required of them.”

Honors College students like Todd McNnis of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, who will receive his B.S. in political science and history during Spring Commencement, took the disruption in stride. McNnis was initially attracted to Mississippi College because of its Christian atmosphere; after visiting the campus during Preview Day, he was convinced MC would be his university home for the next four years.

“Just like other members of my Honors College cohort, I seek to push myself academically,” McNnis said. “To be selected for the program is a recognition of hard work and achievement in school. I wanted to write a thesis, engage in research at a higher level, and be challenged in a way that had never been presented to me before. I also wanted to make friends and find community.”

“I would say those goals were accomplished.”

He said the interdisciplinary approach of the Honors College has expanded his awareness of other academic disciplines and stimulated his interest in other points of view.

“These are the most personally and academically talented people I have ever had the honor to be around,” McNnis said. “I have learned so much from them about how to be successful in all walks of life. These cohorts of mine achieve academically, athletically, and socially. They are Christ-like leaders, and I have been grateful and humbled to be around them.”

“To sit in a class with them and listen to their conversations is an amazing experience. One can learn so much from how they communicate, the way they mentally organize the things around them, and how they respond to outside stimuli. It has been an honor and a privilege, and I will miss them deeply.”

As part of the Honors College curriculum, the class participated in a Study Abroad Program in Thailand. McNnis said it was a once-in-a-lifetime learning opportunity that he will cherish for a long while.

“I didn’t know what to expect, but from the moment we landed in Bangkok, I knew this trip would be a lifelong memory,” he said. “Our two-week visit included tuk-tuk and elephant rides, stunning natural and man-made scenery, and other amazing experiences. Our bonds were stronger than ever when we returned to the States.”

During their first two years, Honors College students take four foundational courses designed and taught by faculty members representing a range of disciplines, from biology to business to nursing and communication. Norcross said mentorship opportunities come naturally to Honors College students: many of whom live in University Place on MC’s East campus and participate in campus organizations where they constantly interact with members of other classes.

“The older students will talk to the new class members and say, ‘This is what we’ve learned,’ or “Watch out for these things,” she said. “Many of them will participate in the same campus activities where they get to know one another and mentor that way.”

McNnis’ advice to future Honors College participants? “Focus.”

“This program will provide you with some phenomenal experiences and opportunities,” he said. “Don’t let them slip away from you. Make personal and spiritual connections. Be present, engaged, and involved.”

“Don’t look back and have regrets.”

McNnis will attend the Mississippi College School of Law in the fall and hopes to one day become a politician. He said being around his classmates and supportive Honors College instructors are what he has enjoyed the most about being in the program.

“I’ve had a built-in group of friends that I have been able to rely on,” he said. “They are reliable, kind, and uplifting at all times. They have contributed to an ever-growing spiritual relationship with the Lord. I could not have been blessed more during my time here.”

“I feel especially prepared to embark on the next chapter of my life, thanks in large part to the experiences I’ve had here. Most importantly, this program has grown my faith, which is far more valuable than anything.”

Norcross said McNnis and his cohorts are ideal standard-bearers for the Honors College students who will follow them.

“I get a little teary-eyed whenever I think about this group and how special they are,” she said. “There’s a wonderful group of faculty who have poured into these students, and they have been incredibly receptive to it. I get that moment of pride whenever I hear about them getting into law school, getting into medical school, getting engaged, getting married, and starting their lives in other professions.”

“This class has excelled beyond every benchmark we could have thought they could reach. They’re all special.”

The importance of having success as the first cohort of Honors College students at Mississippi College is not lost on McNnis or his classmates.

“To echo what fellow Honors College member Marion Pohl said, ‘We’ve had the opportunity to set the standard of what it means to be a member of the Honors College. I believe we leave a path of academic excellence, social involvement, and humbleness in our wake.’

“While future members of the Honors College at MC may choose to focus their undeniable talent elsewhere, I hope they will always represent this University - and this Honors College - with pride and respect.”

Mississippi College, affiliated with the Mississippi Baptist Convention, is a private, co-educational, Christian university of liberal arts and sciences serving more than 4,100 students from approximately 35 states and more than three dozen countries. Founded in 1826, MC is the oldest institution of higher learning in Mississippi, one of the largest private universities in the state, and America’s second-oldest Baptist college. MC offers 84 areas of undergraduate study, 45 degree programs in graduate studies, more than 10 certificate programs, two educational doctoral degrees, a doctor of jurisprudence, and a doctor of professional counseling. MC seeks to be a university recognized for academic excellence and commitment to the cause of Christ.

Central Bible Church “roasts” Pastor Michael Ramsey

SEA COAST ECHO

Central Bible Church hosted a unique event on Sunday, June 25. The church celebrated the 60th birthday of long-time head pastor, Michael Ramsey ThD.

This was no ordinary birthday party, the church put together an amazing spread of food including Ramsey’s favorite Pop-eye’s chicken, several exceptional sides, and a beautiful custom cake. As amazing as the food was, it was the entertaining that made the night memorable. Several of Ramsey’s closest friends got together, dressed to the nines, and put on a good old-fashioned roast, channeling the Dean Martin Roasts of the 1970s.

“I’m excited to visit the Ark Experience,” stated Chiara Brissey, the youngest of the roasters, “Not just to see the ark, but to see Mike’s room on it!”

Master of Ceremonies Kyle Craig said Ramsey is on “Island time” after living in Puerto Rico as a child. “You can tell every time there’s a beautiful Sunday and his sermons go on and on!”

The roast went on to a packed house. The jokes were friendly and out of love. Every roaster ended with a heartfelt message about Ramsey’s contribution to his church and community.

Central Bible Church also runs Hancock County’s only soup kitchen, the King’s Kitchen, which is open Mondays / Wednesdays / Fridays and serves between 250-300 meals. To make contribution people can send checks or money orders to the King’s Kitchen, 2005 Longfellow Drive in BSL.

—THE LEGENDS LUNCHEON—

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

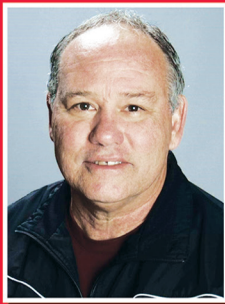

The Legends Luncheon - On Thursday, June 29, some of the biggest athletic names in the area of yesteryear gathered for lunch at Dat Kitchen on Highway 90 in Waveland. And, as you guessed, there were some tales told that have grown taller than former high school and collegiate All-American Mike Necaie in the years since they transpired. The luncheon is the brainchild of several but many defer to Larry Johnson and now Walter Gagnon lends his hand to bringing the group together every few months to reminisce and relive good times had on the field, court, and track. These are a couple of photos from the most recent luncheon.

Ethan Murray tallied three hits for Biloxi while Lamar Sparks and Felix Valerio each recorded two hits. Kahle and
